The CORE of Effective Sales Learning Design

Develop your Salesforce to compete in Future of Sales

Contextualized Competency Suite

- Sales training programs built on comprehensive competency suites covering technical skills, selling skills and digital skills along with the hacks to develop the mental make up for Future of Sales.
- Competencies contextualized for the position, role, industry, experience and growth path of the learner.

Ongoing & On-the-go

- Sales competency modules designed as a journey providing engaging bite-sized content over time rather than large one-time downloads.
- Deliver bite-sized content through a mobile platform that can be accessed anytime, anywhere

Result-oriented

- Train people when and where they need it the most and to solve their most pressing problems
- For instance, provide opportunity to practice pitches on a mobile platform just before client interactions.

Experiential

- People forget 80% of classroom learnings in 3 months, but remember 65% of experiential learnings.
- Adopt blended learning approach using simulations, mobile, mentoring etc.

CORE Implementation Stories

01 A Leading Mutual Fund House

The Challenge: A top 10 Indian Mutual Fund House with an AUM of over USD 25 billion wanted selected competencies to be developed in 250+ Individual Contributors, 30+ Frontline Managers, and 30+ Regional or Zonal Managers. Each cohort had to be developed on specific competencies covering self-management, sales management, and stakeholder management.

The Solution: A comprehensive experiential learning journey with business simulations, behavioral simulations, virtual workshops, and mobile-based micro learning content was designed for each cohort. Program structure focused on weekly conceptual learning and business outcome, quarterly application based learning, and monthly behavioral change measurement.

Program Impact: The program was rated as a success by all participants. Both participants and their managers felt improvement in areas such as goal orientation, ownership levels, ability to accept feedback, and self-awareness.

CORE Implementation Stories

02 A Textile Company

The Challenge: A USD 750 million Indian textile major with an extensive network retailing own brands and licensed international brands wanted to develop their cluster managers, who were in-charge of store managers, to significantly improve store profitability.

The Solution: A customized 6 month result driven sustained learning journey with gamified simulations, weekly mobile retention modules, business projects, and coaching was designed for the 80+ participants. Competencies covered included business acumen, franchisee management, inventory management, and customer centricity. To make the program relevant, 16 stores were visited and data collected from various stakeholders.

Program Impact: Participants showed more than 40% improvement in competencies such as customer centricity, business understanding, and sales forecasting. An overall financial impact of over 100 million was accrued by the end of the program.

CORE Implementation Stories

03 Electrical Appliance Manufacturer

The Challenge: A major electrical appliances manufacturer in India with an annual turnover of USD 400 million wanted distinct sales competencies to be developed in their 250+ branch heads and 750+ sales executives.

The Solution: A comprehensive experiential learning journey with actionable insights was designed for each cohort. For instance, the program for branch heads was designed to help them develop a holistic view of business, understand impact of product mix on profitability, comprehend financial impact of sales decisions, and effective channel management. A similar customized program was made for sales executives.

Program Impact: Participants showed more than 30% improvement in the target competencies and 94% participants recommended it.

In sum

In this day and age of the R.A.P.I.D (Refined, Accessible, Particular, Informed and Dilemmatic) customer, Sales has to adopt P.A.C.E (Personalized value, Agile responsiveness, Coordinated action and Engaging relationships) as a part of their approach and strategy to service customers.

The key elements that they need to focus on can be built through C.O.R.E (Contextualized competency suite, Ongoing and on-the-go, Result-oriented and Experiential) which, in addition to improving technical, selling and digital skills also enhances their mental makeup, thereby enabling true sales transformation.
